The High River Golf Tourney goes on Sunday, June 17, and a large delegation of Vulcan golfers is expected to attend this affair. Then on June 24, the Fifth Anniversary Vulcan Golf Tournament takes place and this has always been one of the top one-day golf occasions in South Alberta.

Wednesday afternoon, May 23, over 50 friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Mary Boose to honor her on the occasion of her 88th birthday.

After tastefully decorating her home, she was given a beautiful corsage. Miss Nettie Ware then presented her with the many lovely remembrances from all her friends and neighbors. She most graciously thanked everyone for such thoughtfulness. B. R. Lommatsch, a close acquaintance of many years offered a most memorable prayer.

Town Tax Dollar Spent Above and Below Ground

The pain of receiving property tax notices, now in the mails, may be easier to bear when we consider the various departments clamouring for their portion of the tax dollar. Stu Joiner's Waterworks is one and above a block over by the Vulcan Flour Mill is shown being ditched for water and sewer lines. Harvey Simmons was contracted for the excavating and his operator Bruce Thompson is shown at the controls of the backhoe.

As a temporary additional supply, two of the new town water wells will be into production shortly and are being tied in with one and one-half inch plastic lines for the present. This will provide an extra 25,000 gallons per day, however as a safety measure water rationing is soon to come into effect again for this summer.

The events which counted for the crests were: relay, 100 yd. dash, shot put or soft ball throw, running broad jump, high jump; hop, step, and jump, and the 220 yd. dash. New events this year that proved very popular were the: discus, javelin, v-legged race, tire obstacle

Cadets Attend Exercise In Forest Reserve

Chief Instructor Frank Burchak, Assistant Instructor Ron Brinton and 14 members of the Vulcan Army Cadet Corps were part of a large Militia and Cadet group participating in a weekend military exercise at the North West Branch camp grounds on the Kananaskis highway west of Claresholm.

The Saturday and Sunday exercise was for the primary purpose of practicing troops of the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers (Militia) in the movement and setting up of a RCEME Field Workshop and to give practical training to all participating troops in forest fire prevention and suppression. Three squadrons of RCEME, along with Service Corps and Medical Corps personnel took part in the exercise and the Cadet Corps from Blairmore, Lethbridge, Fort Macleod and Vulcan were present as observers.

The lectures and demonstrations on forest fire prevention and suppression were given by rangers and other personnel of the Alberta Forest Service.

Transportation of the Vulcan Cadets to and from the exercise was provided by the transport section of "A" Company Calgary Highlanders, with the militiamen drivers being Cpls. Fred Standing, George Christofferson and John Douville, L/Cpl. Ed Zilke and Ptes. R. Rowe and L. Rowe.

for her future happiness. Mrs. Scott then pinned a corsage on Grace's mother and read a greeting from Grace's future mother-in-law. Mrs. Leonard Volsey then pleasantly surprised Mrs. Scott by pinning a corsage on her.

A number of songs sang by two talented young boys of the Vulcan district, Stuart Galbraith and Donald Hansen were much enjoyed. Mrs. Galbraith and Mrs. Sharpe accompanied the youthful singers on the piano. The boys each sang several numbers as solos and finished by singing a laughing song together.

After the gifts were opened and passed around a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Art Scott, Mrs. Ross Walker, Mrs. J. C. MacMillan, Mrs. Guy Volsey, Mrs. A. Whiteside and Mrs. Leonard Volsey. The bride-elect then very fittingly thanked all for the lovely gifts and sincere wishes.

Summer Camp For Guides and Leaders

One of the most enjoyable and rewarding experiences of any girl's young growing years is being a part of and participating in an organization devoted to the interests of girls. In the Lake McGregor Scouting district the Brownie and Girl Guide movements supply this need. Adult group-committees are constantly at work keeping the business of administration, financing and expansion going while leaders such as the two pictured above work directly with the core of the movement, the youngsters themselves.

At the age of 11, Brownies fly-up to the Guide world and in Vulcan their leaders are Mrs. Gwen Graham, Captain and Mrs. Joan Andrews, Lieutenant.

received her Warrant enabling her to enroll Guides or Brownies. Mrs. Andrews is completing her first year as an instructor with the 30 girls in the First Vulcan Girl Guide Company. The girls range in age from 11 to 15 and the instructors explain with that number there is room for another leader to help with the training.

This growing Guide movement has one serious money-making proposition going while leaders such as the two pictured above work recently completed in Vulcan. When they reach the Guide Company girls are introduced to summer camping, a high point of the year. In July they will join with the Arrowwood company and pitch tents for a week at the Guide Camp near that community.

The object in Guiding is to make good citizens of girls. The McGregor district is fortunate in having good citizens willing to give time to encourage this virtue.

 John Deere Dealers Phone 50, Vulcan
 —John Deere's 125th Anniversary Year—

With a fresh breeze blowing across the River Thames in London, England, a group of youth leaders feel the excitement of the outdoor life as they undergo practical boat-work training during a week-end course organized by the Duke of Edinburgh's Award Scheme. In the background is H.M.S. Discovery, which took the British explorer Scott to the Antarctic, and which served as a temporary headquarters for the youth leaders.

An issue of the Calgary Herald was recently brought to the Advocate which carried front page stories of corruption in the police force at Medicine Hat, a ruckus down at City Hall in Calgary, the brutal slaying of a Winnipeg teenage girl and an international news story involving Russia.

What makes this paper particularly interesting and newsworthy is that it was published on July 10, 1913. In 49 years of progress it seems we still find many similar headlines and stories in today's papers, only the names have changed.

This issue of the Herald was uncovered by manager Al Beatty during the demolition of an old building at the Beaver Lumber Company here in Vulcan. The demise of the building is part of an almost complete renovation and reorganization program currently underway at Beaver and the paper was found in the walls of the ancient two-storey building at the west side of the yard.

Tattered, torn and stained though it is, and yellowed and brittle with age, the paper is still quite readable and its 10 pages are full of interest from the front page, through three and a half pages of classified, the editorial page, on to a full page advertisement on page 9 by Schlitz Beer "The Beer That Made Milwaukee Famous" and a page ad at the back for Pryce Jones store.

Local Fish and Gamers will be interested in the biggest picture on the front page, that of a catch of seven trout looked between the Centre Street and Louise Bridges by a shoemaker, U. J. Manie. They averaged 1½ pounds and brought his total caught since July 1, nine days earlier, to 83 trout.

Down at City Hall, apparently someone released a story to the Alberta newspaper about the municipal paving plant saving the city $1,000 a day, "designed as a political boost for commissioner Samis", as charged by others. Herald and another paper, the News Telegram, jumped into the picture with denials that such a statement had been made, the commissioners then clamped a news ban on reporters who banded together, and beat the threat against freedom of the press.

A short news story on page 1 under the heading "Attempts Suicide" read, "Hamilton, Ont., Charles Smith, aged 72, brooding over the death of his wife, slept on her grave last night and this morning slashed his throat and wrists with a knife. He may recover."

Another short international item was carried concerning a leading Japanese statesman who died following surgery from injuries sustained in a ginricksha accident.

In a story concerning fire which was sweeping a mountainside near San Francisco, the commander of the cruiser South Dakota was called for his manpower help. It reads that he marched 600 of his men to the border of the fire, took a look and marched them back again stating later, "It would take all the people in California to put out that fire. I have expert gun pointers among my men, worth $25,000 apiece to the government. I am not going to risk their lives."

Under the front page heading "Barbers Will Enact New Regulations For Barber Shops" was a blazing story of what Calgary was doing, via Health Officer Mahood, along the lines of sanitation in city barber shops. Barbers who had "sure-cures" for taking off warts, freckles and curing skin troubles were to have their semi-medical practice taken from them. Vernon, BC officials wrote for a copy of the by-law as they needed some pointers to ward off epidemic of barber's itch which was afflicting the town.

These rules meant that barbers

Wheat Is Ace In Market Game

A detailed look at Common Market effects on farmers in North America has been given to farm officials from Canada, the U.S. and Mexico, reports The Financial Post's Washington correspondent. Canadian farmers have little to worry about, according to the experts. Some markets will shrink but Canada's big wheat sales should continue as large as before. Farmers in the U.S. will be hurt more than those in Canada.

An expert secretariat paper prepared for a meeting of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers noted Canadian farm exports to Common Market nations were almost entirely competitive with European production. Canada's major advantage, however, is in the high-quality hard wheat Prairie farmers grow. This is Canada's ace-in-the-hole because there is, at present, no country that can produce such high-quality hard wheat.

If The Cap Fits, Wear It; 13 Ways To Ruin A Town

1. Don't pay taxes. Let the other fellow pay his. Vote against taxes. Then fuss because the streets are not kept up.

2. Never attend any of the meetings called for the good of the town. If you do, don't have anything to say. Wait until you get outside and then fuss those who made the suggestions. Find fault with everything that was done.

3. Get all the town will give you, and don't give anything in return. Write unending letters to the editor demanding more for your tax money.

4. Talk co-operation, but don't do anything for your town unless you get paid for it. And by all means refuse to serve unless you are chairman.

5. Never accept an office. It's easier to criticize than to do things. Accuse anybody who serves in an elected office of being a publicity seeker.

6. Don't do any more than you have to. When others willingly and unselfishly give their time to make a better town, howl because the town is run by a clique.

7. Don't back your fire department or your police department. If the firemen work to bring the insurance rates down, tell everybody that is what they are supposed to do. Don't thank them or the policemen for endangering their lives that you might have a safer town in which to live. Demand special treatment: raise Cain if anybody expects you to obey traffic and parking laws.

8. Look at every proposition in a selfish way. If you are not the one who gets the most good out of it, vote against it. Never consider what it will do for the town as a whole.

9. Don't do anything for the youth of the town. Criticize them as potential delinquents. Keep your feet on them. Encourage them to move away when they grow up.

10. If you have good leaders don't follow them. Take a jealous attitude and talk down everything they do.

11. Don't work on any committee. Tell them "I'm too busy."

12. Don't say anything good about your town. Be the first to point up its short comings. Pretend that if trouble comes your way it will be residents of some other town that will visit you while you are ill; bring in the fire department if your home is burning; comfort you if you lose a dear one; stand back of you in disaster.

13. And don't support your local retail stores and other industries. Claim the prices and services in stores in other towns are better. Claim that industry hurts the town. But if you need a donation, ask your local stores and industries for it. Expect them to back you, but don't back them.

If these 13 steps don't ruin your town it isn't your fault!

Liberal Says Dollar Devaluation Hurts Everyone

The effect of devaluation on the pensioners' fixed income and the wage earners' fixed income and the cost of living index was the topic of Jim Coult's speech when he introduced Hazen Argue at a Vulcan meeting on Saturday afternoon. He also challenged the Conservative candidate, who had declined to take part in F.U.A. political forums, to reverse his decision and defend his government's policy.

"Pensions should be taken off the auction block and made a contributory portable pension program geared to cost of living. Politicians would no longer be in a position to bid up pensions as the Conservatives have done for election material. Devaluation chops the latest bid by 7 1/2c on the dollar, so what has been gained?"

"The farmer is no better off if 8% is added to his tractor, cultivator and food costs. I was told at Fort Macleod yesterday that a wholesaler had notified his retailer that it was too much trouble to figure which goods were imported and which were Canadian made, so he was putting on an across the board 6% increase in prices for warehoused material in the transition period."

"In the past five years a 6% squeeze in costs has gone into the narrowing gap between costs and income. Now another 6% has squeezed itself into the cost-price squeeze."

A well known zoology professor was unwrapping a parcel before his class which, he explained to his pupils, was a fine specimen of a dissected frog. Upon disclosing two sandwiches, a hard-boiled egg and a banana, he was very surprised and exclaimed, "But surely I ate my lunch."

Good Progress Is Credit Union's Report

Reports at the May meeting of the Vulcan Savings and Credit Union Ltd., showed that it is making remarkable progress since it was formed last January. There are now 71 members and assets are now nearly $3,000. Several loans amounting to $3,700 have been approved to date with further deposits being required before all the approved loans can be issued. It is expected that this will be only a matter of a few days.

The slate of officers has now been filled as follows: David Paton of Ensign, president; Herb Bender of Vulcan, vice-president; John Hyslop, Clifford Webber and Clarence Roth, directors. The Supervisory Committee is composed of Ervin Brown of Ensign, Alvin Thomas and Alvin Larkins. The Credit Committee consists of Alfred Sales, Edgar Kehr and George Fath. Secretary-treasurer is J. Lundy Findlay.

While very new locally, Credit Unions have been in existence since 1849 and are now world wide. In Canada they are organized locally, provincially and nationally. In Alberta they come under the Co-operative and Credit Union Act, and each Credit Union is chartered, supervised, inspected and audited by the province, under the Department of Industry and Development.

Operated along banking methods, Credit Unions differ from banks inasmuch that they serve only their members; they may not accept savings from, or make loans to the general public as a bank does. A Credit Union is owned and operated by its members, while a bank is owned by its shareholders.

An entry fee of 25c is made and a member must have a minimum of one $5.00 share. Systematic saving is encouraged and these funds are deposited in the Vulcan Treasury Branch and used as a fund from which only members may borrow.

The Vulcan Savings and Credit Union Ltd., has already arranged life insurance on all depositors, so that if a member dies, his savings and an equal amount from life insurance proceeds are paid to the beneficiary. All loans are also covered by life insurance.

The directors hope to have a minimum of 100 members at the end of June to mark its first six months of operation. Efforts will also be made to substantially increase its assets, because it has $2,504,000,000.

—Gus Johnk, Milo.

—Lloyd Schumacher, Vulcan.

now been proven to the satisfaction of its members that the Credit Union fills a need in this area, and loan applications already exceed its present assets. Members are gradually learning some of the principles of the Credit Union which include collective saving to help fellow members, save while you repay a loan, save from the top and spend from the remainder save now and spend later, etc.

All the Credit Union officers are serving without pay or remuneration of any kind, and for the present year are not paying any rent. They can thus keep expenses to a bare minimum, with the purpose of declaring a dividend on fully paid shares at the annual meeting. The first year is the most difficult but it now appears that the Credit Union will be in a strong position by the time its first annual meeting is held next January.

Pass books will be mailed this week to members who have not yet picked them up, and they are urged to bring their pass books with them each time they make a deposit. Members are urged to make additional deposits as soon as possible so that loans which have been approved, can be issued.

TWO NEW ALBERTA RADIO STATIONS?

The CBC has proposed its biggest radio investment since television began in 1952.

The publicly-owned agency wants to spend $1,750,000 to build powerful new radio stations in Calgary and Edmonton. It would cost $500,000 a year to operate both of them.

J. Alphonse Oulmet, corporation president, told the Board of Broadcast Governors that the federal cabinet already has approved the expenditure.

The proposal is to scrap the CBC's existing 50,000-watt transmitter at Lacombe, midway between Calgary and Edmonton, as well as a 250-watt transmitter at Edmonton.

Replacing them would be 50,000-watt stations — the maximum possible power — in both Calgary and Edmonton, each city having its own studios. Only Edmonton now has a CBC studio.

From 1958 to 1961 the total of federal direct taxation in Canada increased from $1,795,000,000 to $2,504,000,000.

IN MEMORIAM

But love and memories never die.

For purposes of determining the trophy and crest winners a first receives 5 points, a second receives 3 points, and a third receives a 1 point count. The most you could get would be 25. Delores Doane did just that. For athletes like Delores it would certainly be nice to have a central track meet to give her and others of her calibre some competition.

The future of local track meets is in grave doubts. Too many students persuade their parents into letting them stay away thus ruining the chances of a future meet.

One of the biggest reasons why we had a local track meet was the fact that previous to this year with our elimination system a whole school would have to close down for a small percentage of competitors. Also there was very little support from the parents for such a large school. Possibly a picnic idea and a track meet combined would be more suitable and convenient. Also the competition for such fine athletes as Delores Doane is very weak in a local arrangement. On the brighter side many new students entered knowing that their chances were much better than they would be if it had been a county-wide track meet. If there is not going to be a county-wide meet next year, the Vulcan High School will probably hold a Saturday meet. It would also certainly be nice to have a meet for just the winners of the county. Then it would be possible to enter the meets in the city. Unofficially the only school that had track meets planned or carried out for this year were: Vulcan and Champion.

Citizens' Radio Band Available

Channels

On April 2, 1962, the Canadian General Radio Service Band (commonly referred to as the Citizens Radio band) comprising 19 channels was made available for general use in Canada. Operation in this band is on a shared basis and no protection is provided from other stations operating within the same band of frequencies.

Any Canadian Citizen over the age of 18 may apply for a license, for which there will be a very nominal charge. Application forms can be obtained from The Dept. of Transport, Radio Branch, who are located in every major center. No examination is required.

Use of the #### General Radio Service Band

In Western Canada, where the terrain is essentially flat a range of 15-20 miles can be expected between a fixed and a mobile station, and somewhat less between mobile stations, providing of course that the equipment is functioning properly and has been correctly installed.

There are a large number of useful applications for this class of radio communication such as: Shop to service vehicles, office to delivery trucks, hauling service, civic and municipal services, fire, ambulance, power, waterworks, school buses, medical and veterinary services, shore to boat, boat to boat, fishing fleets, road building, construction projects, farm home to field machinery, petroleum industry and many others.

Equipment Requirements

All equipment used on the General Radio Service Band must comply with specifications laid down by the Dept. of Transport as to maximum antenna input power, spurious carrier content, selectivity, frequency stability, etc. Every piece of equipment must carry the Dept. of Transport approval number. No other equipment will be licensed, such as kits or home wired apparatus. The Radio Act provides severe penalties for abuse of the regulations.

1962 Water Development Program

Following another year of below normal runoff and continuing dry weather conditions, all indications point to another record year for construction of water development structures under the PFRA program. A further factor that will materially influence this picture during 1962 is the extension of PFRA services to include all settled areas of the three prairie provinces, as a result of the 1961 removal of the former PFRA boundary line.

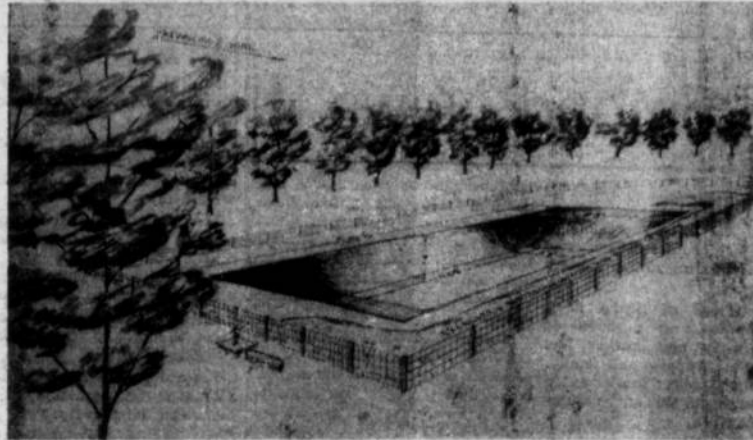

These conservation structures

Alberta, should be completed and forwarded to these offices or to PFRA headquarters in Regina.

In the case of droughts, assistance is given on complete projects on the basis of yardage of earth moved, to a maximum of $250 for individual farm projects and $1,000 where the water resources are shared by two or more neighbouring farmers. Emphasis is placed on depth and size of structure which should be sufficient to meet the individual farmer's needs. From experience it has been found that these should must be preceded by an investigation by PFRA preparation of plans by qualified PFRA field staff in accordance with requirements laid down under Provincial Water Rights legislation. Assistance on earth work is provided on the same basis as for dugouts and additional assistance for rock riprap and purchase of other materials required in construction up to a maximum of $300 for stockwatering dams, $600 for irrigation projects, and $1,000 for neighbour projects.

Larger community and municipal schemes may be author-enable efficient use of runoff from melting snow or rain for domestic, stockwatering and irrigation purposes. When appropriately designed and properly constructed, these structures can provide a dependable and ample water supply to meet most farm requirements, and they will assure a reserve sufficient to meet periodic dry periods. The effectiveness of these structures which are developed on a self-help plan, is best indicated by the numbers that have been built with PFRA assistance since the program was first initiated in 1935—now totalling well over 80,000 in number throughout the prairie area.

To apply for assistance, appropriate application forms obtained from District Agricultural Representatives, Municipal Offices or from PFRA field offices located at various points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and not be less than 65' wide, 200' long and 14' deep with dimensions on the floor of the dugout of not less than 23' x 100'. Constructed in this way, a storage with a capacity of from 500,000 to 600,000 gallons of water, or approximately 2 acre-feet can be created. Taking into consideration normal evaporation and seepage losses, this is normally adequate to meet the annual water requirements of from 25 to 50 head of livestock and supply all water needs in the home for two to three years. Such a water supply will enable limited irrigation on 1 to 2 acres of farm garden and shelterbelts. The responsibility for selection of a suitable site for the project, soil testing and construction of the project itself, remain with the farmer.

As distinct from dugouts, construction of stockwatering dams and irrigation projects ized under the PFRA program but owing to their size and cost, PFRA assumes the major share of cost involved and plays a direct role in supervision of construction. Such projects may be negotiated with PFRA through provincial authorities or application can be made directly by local government bodies. Construction is undertaken on the basis of the project's merit and under agreement with Local Water Users wherein the community or municipality will make available land that may be required for construction and creation of reservoirs, and will accept responsibility for operation and maintenance of the project effective one year following completion of the structure.

During the 28 years since the program has been in operation, over 800 of these larger structures have been constructed under the PFRA program.

Club Notes

MOSSLEIGH 4-H GRAIN CLUB

The 4-H Grain Club held their May meeting at Hagedorn's. Leonard Robinson led the pledge with 12 members and both leaders present.

Barry Campbell and Jim Samaroden volunteered to draw a sign for the hall. The members decided that they would like to attend the Pioneer in Saskatoon and further plans are to be made at the next meeting. For program, Blair Shaw spoke on "4-H Grain Preparation."

Lunch was served by the Hagedorn brothers.

This striking photograph contrasts the classical simplicity of a Rolls-Royce car radiator, which has long been recognised the world over as a symbol of top quality British engineering in the field of high-powered motor cars, with the futuristic tailplane of Britain's newest jet airliner, the Vickers VC10, which is powered by four Rolls-Royce Conway engines.

SOCIAL SECURITY

The Diefenbaker Government announced in Parliament last session that Canada is to have a Contributory Social Security System. A Constitutional Amendment is to be obtained from the British Parliament so as to permit the inclusion of Survivor and Disability features. Canada is to have the most up-to-date and advanced Contributory Social Security System in the World, and NOT a government dole.

1. Payment will start at age 65, with a lesser annuity at age 62 if desired.
2. Disability Insurance.
3. Survivor Benefits for Widows and Children.
4. Full Portability of Pensions. This will enable employees to change jobs and take with them any pension already built up. No longer will the person in middle life be turned down because of the pension plan.
5. There will be no "Means Test."

90% of all oil company product research in Canada

is done by Imperial

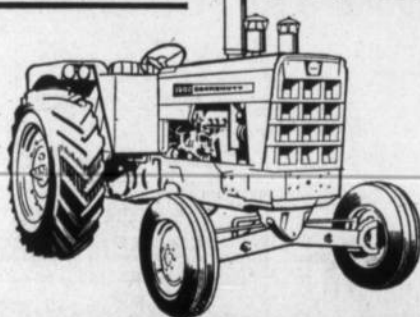

At Imperial Oil's laboratories at Sarnia, Ontario, more than 200 scientists and technicians are working to improve present petroleum products — and to develop new ones. Their research covers many fields, from gasolines to household detergents.

Another 130 scientists and technicians are working at Imperial's Calgary laboratories on ways to find and produce more Canadian crude oil and natural gas. Imperial does more research than all other oil companies in Canada combined.

Swimmers Anxiously Awaiting Word

As you can see from the photo above the time is at hand when most youngsters switch their address from home to the swimming pool.

Don Beuhler, as caretaker of the Vulcan Lions Club Memorial Swimming Pool, is shown putting finishing touches on the pool's overhaul in preparation for the avalanche of wet bodies. That's one of the pool's most ardent supporters, Bruce Stewart, staring wistfully into the clear, fascinating depth of water wondering if opening day will ever come. At 9 years of age, Bruce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stewart of Vulcan claims he has been swimming all his life and can take the deep end now. Mr. Beuhler verifies this statement and adds there's another younger Stewart at home, Donnie, aged 5 who bounces around the toddlers' pool like a veteran.

When does the pool open? Well Mr. Beuhler couldn't say but for now the thought is that if the youngsters spent as much time worrying over their school work as they do worrying about when the pool will open, some of them might spend a much more carefree summer at the water's edge as a result.
